

Campus Eye, Texas Banks & David's Law Combatting Bullying & Cyber Bullying

Under a special sponsorship program by the Texas Bankers Association and its member banks, Campus Eye can be used by K-12 school districts across Texas to help prevent bullying and cyber bullying. A key component to help schools identify bullying issues is providing students with the ability to report issues as they arise so prompt action can be taken to address the potential harm to children who are threatened. This includes the ability to report anonymously if desired.

Campus Eye gives Texas schools the technology they need to comply with David's Law. It's a mobile app, as well as a web app, that can be integrated into a school district's website. It lets users submit reports to school administrators regarding bullying and other safety-related matters. It may also be used to report facilities/operations issues. The online dashboard lets school administrators review, act and resolve reports as they are submitted.

Campus Eye may be customized to meet each school district's specific needs and may be expanded to support a variety of safety and facilities issues that can arise each day.
